LunaJets Opening 15 New Sales Positions

To address our worldwide exponential growth in demand, we are delighted to open 15 new sales positions to be filled by next September.

You will be inducted with our intensive training, integration programmes, supported fully to ensure you learn and progress quickly. We are looking for Hard working and loyal employees who speak either German, Italian, Russian and English. You will be based at Geneva HQ, with the possibility to join one of our offices in London, Dubai, Paris and Monaco.

If you have the motivation, are client centric and are up to the challenge of joining the best team in private aviation, you will enjoy being a part of our flat structured organisation and contribute to our ongoing team successes by serving our clients, partaking in the company's expansion and proudly celebrating your achievements.

LunaJets has been recognised by Bilan magazine as the best employer in Switzerland, for the fourth year in a row.
